Staffs Complete Appeals Series In Food Drive

Provisions for 125 Families
Goal of Director
Futrowsky

Swinging into their final series of appeals for help from students, faculty and alumni in providing Christmas cheer for poverty stricken tubercular families of the city, the Food Drive staff is working night and day to classify and store the contributions that are pouring into headquarters.

The organization goes into concentrated action on two fronts this week, with oral pleas to students both through classes and through social groups.

Speak Before Classes.
Machin Gardner has appointed Don Sickler and Neal J. Huff chairmen of the Medical School and Law School units, respectively. These, together with Compton Timberlake, head of the general student body speaking group, are leading their staffs in making brief speeches to all classes of the University.

At the same time, Ruth Critchfield, organization chairman, Selmer Johnson, fraternity chairman, Verna Volz, sorority chairman, and Karl Gay, coordinator of the organizations unit, are climaxing their canvass with personal talks to various groups.

Futrowsky Optimistic.
As a result of all this activity, Sam Futrowsky, Director of the Drive, predicted Sunday night that the giant "Drivometer" situated on the campus would reach its quota of 125 baskets before tomorrow evening. Futrowsky stated Sunday that already he had on hand enough food and money to fill baskets for approximately 25 families.

Among the larger donations expected to the Drive, Futrowsky named the proceeds from the can dances given by Kappa Sigma and Tau Epsilon Phi fraternities in their "traditional" rivalry, which comes to a head at the Food Drive office tomorrow.

At that time, donations of both groups will be turned over to the Director, and a well-known local dietary authority will probably be present to evaluate and judge between them, Futrowsky stated.

Coach Hanley Not Offered Job Here

Rumor That Hanley Will Replace Pixlee As Head
Coach Next Year False

By John Busick
(Sports Editor)
The Hatchet learned yesterday that Dick Hanley, ousted Northwestern football coach, has received no overtures from George Washington authorities to coach here next year.

However, Hanley has not accepted any job for next year and would give the position here serious consideration if it were offered him, Walter M. Paulson, publicity director at Northwestern, stated in a wire to The Hatchet.

Persistent rumors since Thanksgiving have connected Hanley with the position here as head football coach with Pixlee to retire from active coaching but to continue as athletic director.

Resignation Announced Saturday
Saturday the Willcat mentor's resignation at Northwestern, rumored since the early fall, became official. Immediately speculations as to Hanley's future filled the press. It was reported that he and Ossie Solem, Iowa coach, might exchange posts, and later, that Hanley would come to G. W.

Hanley is a free agent, and will accept the best proposition offered, Paulson continued in his statement. He will start looking for a job when he returns from the coast late in January.

At present Hanley is acting as co-coach with Andy Kerr of Colgate, of the All-East team which meets the Western team in the annual charity game on New Year's

First Student Radio Program Broadcast Tonight On WMAL

"The Man Who Built a World," the first of the student radio programs, which was scheduled for last Sunday night will be broadcast tonight over station WMAL, from 9:15 to 9:30.

For the last several weeks Edmund Ziman, John Nazard, and Professor Bement's creative writing class have been working over the script. It deals with the life and activities of Simon Bolivar, the "George Washington of South America."

The following students were chosen at the tryouts held week before last and will be featured on tonight's broadcast: Karl Gay as Simon Bolivar, Calvert Hines as General De Gassas, John Cogges as General Sucre, William

Measuring the "Quality of Mercy"

This is the "drivometer" erected in the yard yesterday to stimulate interest in the Student Council-Hatchet Christmas Charity Food Campaign. Frances Goodrich, University Queen, is shown officially "starting the cans rolling," although cash contributions have already passed the 25 families mark. Organizations donating complete baskets or cash should visit the office of the drive at 2005 G street, but individuals may leave contributions in the campus barrels.

Food Drive Distribution Routine Is Complicated, Systematized

No Parking Signs, Conveyors' System Is Included in Equipment

Parking is prohibited in front of 2005 G St. on December 19, to make way for bustling Christmas spirit and grocery uniforms as the great distribution process of the Food Drive hurries under way.

William McConnell's white-coated shipping department will trot back and forth to the waiting trucks with food boxes, while inside Bill Chandler and his assistants are busy packing a pre-arranged schedule of food stuffs into uniform boxes donated by downtown stores.

The food, systematically arranged on shelves and in potato bins and orange bins, will be handled by a line of conveyors to facilitate and speed up the packing process.

Once packed, wrapped, and sealed, the food is turned over to the shipping department which has been working with the routing staff to compile the routes for each delivery unit. Members of the delivery staff headed by Ken Patrum will take charge of the food until it is delivered to the various needy families.

Each truck will be appropriately decorated as it drives off with a clerk and two members of the social service staff to make its rounds distributing Christmas cheer.

Attached to each package will be a Christmas card saying, "The students and faculty of The George Washington University cordially wish you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year."

Thurloway as General Miranda, Machin Gardner as Colonel Santander, Harry Knapp as Luis Mendez, Irving Grodstein as Thomas, and Abe Lynn as Ugarte. The parts of soldiers and townspeople will be taken by Harry Kay, William G. Gausman, Earl Eisenhart, and Gardner Crabbe. The narrator will be Joseph Danzansky.

The series is to be a permanent part of University dramatics, and will cover incidents in the lives of famous statesmen, explorers, scientists, and writers. The program will be given monthly, and an attempt is being made to have them broadcast over the N. B. C. network. George Washington is the first college to write and produce such a program.

Many Submitting Requests for Aid

Alumni, Students, Faculty,
Outsiders, Sending in Family Names

Word has passed around the city that the students of George Washington are endeavoring to aid the poor and needy to enjoy a happy Christmas, and from all quarters of the city requests and calls for aid pour in.

Not all are from the people themselves. In a number of cases, Sam Futrowsky, director of the drive, reported that letters have been received from alumni, students, and faculty members recommending deserving families. Others are from people not related to the University who have read of the drive in the newspapers, while still others are from the people themselves.

Poverty in Washington does not reach the depths found in other cities, according to general social surveys, but these letters and reports contain a cross-section of suffering which spurs members of the social working staff to even greater efforts.

Immediately upon receipt of a letter or other communication one of this staff investigates and makes a detailed report, with notes as to what other sort of aid may be offered.

Musical Comedy Group to Begin Chorus Practice

Helen Bealke, Troubadour dance director, announces that the first chorus rehearsals will be held in Corcoran 10 today and Thursday, from 12 to 1.

She also announces the appointment of Mary Fulgham, Betty Hartung, and Jan Shuck, as assistant dance directors.

A list of women surviving the tryouts has three times been refused The Hatchet despite the importance of such information to those desiring to attend rehearsals.

Women Debaters Hold Initial Meeting Friday

Women debaters held their initial meeting Friday afternoon to organize this year's squad. The new query has not been decided upon, but it is believed that it will involve a phase of the munitions question.

Construction On Women's Dorm Begins at Once

Housing for 200 Made Possible by Donation of Mrs. Strong

Work will begin at once on plans for the new women's dormitory, the erection of which has been made possible by a gift to the University made by Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong, member of the Board of Trustees. The announcement of this gift followed a special meeting of the Board last Wednesday morning.

Construction will be pushed to completion before the opening of the academic year next fall. The hall will house 200 women students and will probably be situated on the corner of 21st and G streets, where the administration offices are now located. However, officials could not be located to confirm this report.

According to President Marvin, the building will be colonial in design, and will be the first unit of a permanent building plan for the University.

President Marvin said: "Through Mrs. Strong's generosity, we will be enabled to give appropriate housing to the many women students who come to The George Washington University from all parts of the country, and to provide a center for all women's activities on the campus. This is a need that long has been keenly felt. Mrs. Strong has the heartfelt gratitude of all associated with the George Washington University. For them, this women's hall will constitute a lasting memorial to her."

Work Underway For Demolishing Buildings H, I, J

Registrar, Science Dep'ts
Moving to Make Way
for New Structure

With Building H, the Registrar's office, and I and J slated to be torn down before the month is over to make room for the new building, the biology, zoology, geology and botany departments and the Registrar's office are scurrying around, seeking new quarters.

The botany department and the Registrar's office are the only ones that have definite places to go. The botany department has taken as its headquarters the newly purchased building at 2005 G street and temporary hothouses have been set up on the second and third floors in the front of the building. The library is using the remainder of the second floor, and the remaining rooms are used as offices and research rooms. The botany laboratory has been set up in the basement of Building M, and is shared by the biology department. The Registrar's office has moved to the basement of Stockton Hall.

Laboratories for the Zoology department will be situated in the basement of Corcoran Hall and in Building R, and up to now the Zoology department has found space only on the third floor of Building K.

The foundations for the new building will be laid by the end of Christmas vacation, and equipment will arrive about the beginning of next semester.

Medical Faculty Presents Papers

Six Will Attend American Association for the Advancement of Science

Six members of the faculty of the Medical School will attend and present papers before the American Association for Advancement of Science which convenes December 27 and will continue through December 31, in Pittsburgh.

Dean Earl B. McKinley is secretary of Section N of the Association. Dr. McKinley, together with Dr. Randall Thompson, research associate in bacteriology, will present a paper on the "Studies on Immunity with Poliovirus and Vaccine Viruses in Monkeys."

Dr. Vincent du Vigneaud, professor of biochemistry; Dr. Leland W. Parr, associate professor of bacteriology; Dr. John H. Hanks, assistant professor of bacteriology; and Dr. Alden F. Roe, instructor in bacteriology, will also present papers at the meeting.

Prof. Seegar Will Speak At Chapel in January

Raymond J. Seegar, Physics professor, will speak on "What Can a Student Believe?" at the first chapel service of the new year to be held on Friday, January 4, at noon in Corcoran 10. His subject is following up the idea given in chapel two weeks ago by Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Second Semester Registration To Begin Monday, January 7

Sororities Must
Finish Pictures
Within Two Days

Thursday, December 20, two days from today, will be the deadline for each sorority to turn in the name of its candidate for the Cherry Tree's annual beauty contest.

To be eligible to enter a candidate in this competition, a sorority must have 75 percent of its active and pledge members photographed before Thursday.

The feature section of the Cherry Tree has obtained a world famous beauty expert and illustrator, MacClelland Barclay, to judge the contest.

Any student who possesses photographs of events that have taken place at the University since April 1 of last year are requested by Richard P. Creyke, feature editor, to turn them in to either Creyke or to Henry W. Herzog, graduate manager of publications. It is Creyke's desire to have this year's March of Events section cover every event that has taken place in the University this year, and to further this a greater variety of photographic subject matter is necessary.

For the first time in several years, the Law and Medical schools will have their own sections in the Cherry Tree, the Board of Editors has announced.

Pope Introduces Elections System Plan to Council

Committee Set-up Replaces
Temporary Regulations
Now in Force

Informal plans for complete reorganization of the student elections system were introduced at the Student Council meeting last Thursday by Ross Pope, Chairman of elections committee. The committee's proposed setup would replace temporary regulations framed for the last election by Law representative Bill Martin and passed in the form of a resolution by the Council early this term.

Only slightly modifying the resolution, the proposed amendment would still enfranchise juniors in Law and Medical schools, who prior to this year have not been allowed to vote in class elections. All students in Law and Medical schools would be classified as juniors except those eligible for a degree.

Election Time Set
Elections of class officers and student councilmen for the succeeding years will be held the same time in the early spring, according to the committee's report. Freshmen elections would necessarily be held in the early part of the next year.

A proposal for making all class presidents members of the Student

Libraries Open Limited Hours During Holidays

University libraries will be closed from December 23 through December 26, but will be open for limited hours all other days during the Christmas holidays, John R. Mason, librarian, announces.

The general library will be open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., Friday, December 21; from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m., December 22 and 29; from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., December 27, 28, and 31; and from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m., January 2.

The law library will be open at 9 a. m. every day, and will close at 10 p. m., December 21; 1 p. m., December 22; 11 p. m., December 27 and 28, and January 2; 7 p. m., December 29; and 5 p. m., December 31.

The Medical Library will also be open at 9 a. m. every day, and will close at 4:30 p. m., on December 21, 27, 28, 31, and January 2; and at 1 p. m., on December 22 and 29.

Commissioners Approve Food Drive Boxing Card

Roy Manley and Stanford Carrier, professional welterweights, will feature the Food Drive boxing show in the University gym tomorrow night at 8:30. It was learned late last night. Among the eight amateur bouts will be Eddie Saugstad vs. Debs DeAngelis (bantamweights), Danny Petro vs. Charley Petro (55 pounds), and Joe Petro vs. El Brookman (110 pounds).

Students Now Enrolled May
Re-register Before
January 18

Pre-registration for the second semester will start Monday, January 7, and continue through Friday, January 18, the registrar's office announces.

During this period, students now enrolled in the University who expect to continue their work next semester may plan their schedules with the assistance of deans and advisors, execute the necessary forms, and complete registration. By doing this, they may avoid the inconvenience of the more crowded regular period.

Initial payment of tuition should be made on or before January 31 in all schools. The usual $5 late registration fee will be charged if payment has not been made by that date.

Registration Necessary
Registration for students entering the University from high schools or transferring from other colleges or universities will be on Wednesday and Thursday, January 30 and 31. Attention is called to the fact that registration for the second semester is necessary in all cases, even though a student's program for the second semester be identical with that of the first.

Procedure for those desiring to register in advance is as follows: On page two is a printed form which should be filled in at once by all students of the University (except those in Law School) and brought or mailed after the holidays to the Registrar's Office, temporarily located in the Basement of Stockton Hall. Upon the receipt of this form properly filled out, the necessary forms for registration, together with full instructions for their execution will be issued.

Degree Applications Due
Necessary changes in schedule, due to failures in prerequisite courses, will be allowed without charge until February 15.

January 7 is the last day for submitting applications for degrees and junior certificates to be conferred in February. It is also the last day for receiving those of candidates for the degrees of Doctor of Philosophy and Doctor of Education in February.

Grey Talks Next On Radio Forum

"Background of American Mind," Is Subject of Thursday's Broadcast

"The Background of the American Mind," is the topic of the address to be given by Prof. Wood Grey of the history department on The George Washington Radio Forum this week. The program will be broadcast at 8 o'clock Thursday evening over Station WMAL.

The speech will depict four main sources of background: Puritanism, frontier, sectionalism, and industrialism. Professor Grey will group Puritanism and industrialism under influences derived from our European forefathers. He will point out the factors of lawlessness and individualism as outgrowths of the frontier. Sectionalism will be portrayed by variations of climate, soil, and internal strife and jealousies. Prohibition will be used as an example of all four types of background.

Even The Hatchet Staff Rates Christmas Vacation

What with late shopping to do, back book reports to make up, and income tax statements to fill out, The Hatchet staff will take a vacation for the ensuing two weeks. The next Hatchet will roll from the presses on January 8.

Alpha Kappa Psi Meets Tonight With Activities Representatives

Alpha Kappa Psi, commerce and business fraternity, meets tonight with representatives of major campus activities to formulate a questionnaire which will be submitted to the organizations for approval. The questionnaire, it is planned, will ask for each organization's system of records, so that by means of a series of conferences a uniform method of recording can be established, which will, however, make allowances for slight changes due to the basic differences in the set-up of the organization.

The purpose of this meeting is two-fold. First, it will enable organizations which annually handle substantial sums of money to voluntarily set up a system of records, according to their own best judgment of their own needs, which can be left as an aid to future officers of the organizations.

Secondly, it will enable Alpha Kappa Psi, consisting of students

Hatchet Gives Schedules For Holiday Trips

20 Per Cent of Student Body to Leave Immediately
After Classes

WEATHER FAIR, COLD
Fraternities, Sororities Report Large Percent of Members Leaving

Leaving Washington as quickly as possible after dismissal of classes Thursday, approximately 20 percent of the students in George Washington University will depart by bus, train, automobile, boat, and airplane to spend the 18 days of the Christmas vacation at home.

A weather forecast of generally fair and colder weather during the next ten days has been reported by the Weather Bureau.

Fraternities and sororities report large numbers of their active and pledge members planning to spend their vacation at home. In some instances as high as 95 percent of the fraternity is to be away from Washington during the holidays.

Hatchet Presents Time-table
To facilitate the task of looking up and comparing time-tables of the numerous transportation companies, The Hatchet has compiled the schedules to leading cities which will be visited during the holidays.

A day student in the University may leave Washington at 7:30 p. m. and reach New York City by bus at 4:24 the following morning; or he may leave by train at 10:45 p. m. and reach the metropolis at 5:50 a. m. For those who crave speed, a plane leaves at 2:23 a. m. and reaches New York in slightly less than two hours.

New Orleans Trip
A number of students plan to spend the Yuletide season in warmer climes. A train leaving at 11:10 p. m., arrives in New Orleans at 7:15 the second morning. The bus time for this distance is somewhat more, leaving Washington at 11 p. m. and reaching the Crescent City the second day at 8:25 p. m. Planes take from 12:12 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. to make the same journey.

The only connection to Chicago by air leaves at 10:38 a. m. and arrives there at 4 p. m. This plane continues to St. Louis, arriving at 7:52 p. m. The buses to Chicago leave at 7 p. m. and 1:30 a. m. and arrive at 10:50 p. m. and 4:30 a. m. the next day. By rail, students leave Washington at 8 p. m. and 11:40 p. m. and arrive at 2 p. m. and 5:15 p. m. the next day.

To go to St. Louis one leaves by

Honor Societies To Initiate Nine

Journalistic Groups Will Hold Dance After Ceremonies Friday

Gamma Eta Zeta, women's honorary journalistic society, will initiate six women Friday evening at 8:30 in the Kappa Kappa Gamma rooms. The initiates are Ruth Brewer, Helen Buntin, Muriel Chamberlain, Ethel Nelson, Olivia Nixon, and Mary Spelman.

Pi Delta Epsilon, Men's honorary journalistic society, will initiate Harry Ames, Richard P. Creyke, and Austin Cunningham on the same evening at the Acadia house at 8 o'clock.

Following the initiations, the two organizations will hold a joint dance at a downtown hotel.

Alpha Kappa Psi Meets Tonight With Activities Representatives

Alpha Kappa Psi, commerce and business fraternity, meets tonight with representatives of major campus activities to formulate a questionnaire which will be submitted to the organizations for approval. The questionnaire, it is planned, will ask for each organization's system of records, so that by means of a series of conferences a uniform method of recording can be established, which will, however, make allowances for slight changes due to the basic differences in the set-up of the organization.

The purpose of this meeting is two-fold. First, it will enable organizations which annually handle substantial sums of money to voluntarily set up a system of records, according to their own best judgment of their own needs, which can be left as an aid to future officers of the organizations.

Secondly, it will enable Alpha Kappa Psi, consisting of students who are, to a certain extent, experienced in such matters, to aid these organizations in their plans by suggestions. It also gives Alpha Kappa Psi an annual project.

The purpose of this, according to its sponsors, is to eliminate such situations as those which faced the directors of last year's Fiesta and this year's Junior Prom, who found themselves without records which might have been a great aid. It is planned that these records will be filed in the Student Council office where they will be readily available for future reference. This project is not, however, a Student Council one, but was begun by individuals acting independently and has been taken up by the organizations themselves.

Fred Baulknight has been made chairman of the Alpha Kappa Psi committee, and will be aided on the committee by Floyd Sparks, Sam Futrowsky, and Walter Rhinehart, as representatives of various organizations.

Re: The Food Drive

THE almost unanimous hearty approval of The Hatchet-Student Council Food Drive is indeed gratifying.

Following is a letter, typical of a number received, which we take the liberty to publish here.

Dec. 15, 1934.
Mr. James Haley, Editor,
The University Hatchet.
Dear Sir:

As one of that large majority of G. W. students who have no affiliations with a campus organization, I am prompted to express my approval of the worthy motives behind The Hatchet's Christmas Food Drive, upon noting the enthusiastic manner in which the responsible parties are attempting to promote a happy Christmas for some of our worthy poor.

Among the wide field of activities which are open only to members of social fraternities, or interesting only to "activity hounds," it is gratifying to see one undertaking on the campus which has such obvious worth and such a broad, general appeal to the average working student like myself.

Yours for success,
JESSE KNIGHT.

In all only two expressions of dissatisfaction with the Food Drive have reached us, each basing his complaint on the "compulsory" tactics reported used by some organizations in securing contributions.

It is not now, and never has been, the will or intention of either The Hatchet or Student Council that students be "forced" to give to the drive. We want all contributions to be entirely voluntary; certainly no reflection will or should be cast upon any student who does not feel that he or she is able to contribute—and no doubt there are a number of such students in the University—if he does not contribute.

Any form of "compulsion" on the part of any individual or group in this drive is looked upon with disfavor by both The Hatchet and Student Council.

“Men Working”

PERHAPS the most extensive building program in the history of the University has been launched in the last two weeks, with the announcement of the completion of the faculty club, and definite plans for the immediate erection of a girls' dormitory and a modern academic and business structure.

We are assured now that the "Greater George Washington," about which we have heard so much, is to be realized.

O. D. K. Scales Heights

A NEW high in social activities among campus honorary groups was achieved with the O. D. K. twentieth anniversary banquet Saturday night when the G. W. Circle was host to members of the Eastern Province.

With the Attorney-General of the United States, his special assistant—a speaker and lawyer of national renown, and the chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia heading the list of distinguished members present and speaking, the affair will be hard to surpass in prominence.

We Say It Too

THIS is not meant to bore anyone with meaningless repetition of typical seasonal greetings, but as official student spokesman of the University, The Hatchet takes this opportunity to convey to its readers, students and alumni, the same old "Very Merry Christmas and Happy, Snappy New Year!"

JUST BETWEEN US

‘G. W. Come Through’ Thrills

Every Food Basket to Carry a Greeting; Greeks Seek Name for New Scholarships; Two Complaints

By Verna Volz

THE back room of 2005 G Street was crowded with busy, bantering people, as it always is these closing days of the University Food Drive. Most of the floor was covered by that huge buff and blue sign with the rising thermometer serving as an index of the school's willingness to share.

Sammy Walker was putting the finishing touches on the flat.

"What slogan shall we put at the top?" he asked. The assembly was ready with answers, most of them cracks, and some of them serious, ranging from "Please, No Tiny Tins," to "Use portrait studies of the committee."

A voice cut across the laughter.

"Why not," it said, "use 'G. W. Come Through.'"

In an instant the place was gravely silent.

"O. K.," said Walker, beginning on a blue "G."

Everybody in the room went back to work.

When President Marvin wrote to the director of the Food Drive that he was glad to see college students willing to face their responsibility to the community he was not complimenting us on a non-existent quality. The feeling is there, and the incident, in however a small way, shows it.

Through the generosity of a member of the committee, each basket that goes from the school to a needy family will be topped by a colorful card announcing in Old English type, "The Student Body and Faculty of The George Washington University Wish You a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year." It would be rather nice, wouldn't it, if all 7,000 odd of us had as practical a part in sending that greeting as did the man who gave us his time and his money to produce the cards?

Who are those associated with the development of this institution to whom it would be fitting that a lasting memorial has already been created in the All-Greek scholarships just provided by the fraternities and sororities, acting jointly with the University? All that remains is the designation of a name for the fund to be added to the long list of G. W. aids to students.

The names of the beloved Provost William Allen Wilbur, and of the late Dr. Dudley Wilson Willard are those most often suggested for the honor. Others of the many groups would like it if they could include Dr. Luther Rice. As you probably did not know, since there is nothing on campus to commemorate the fact, he founded this school.

The complaint department registers two widely different ones for this week.

One is that another citadel of tradition has fallen. The Annual Pledge from this January will no longer be a festival of the neophytes, but a subscription dance open to all and sundry. The old order concerns the projected new building, which, one hears, will be painted white. The cruelly picturesque words of the complainant were:

"Gosh, I hope not. This place is beginning to look like a sanitary dairy." That one is referred to the committee on planning.

Detroit Trips
Trains bound for Detroit leave at 11:10 p. m., arriving at 7:55 p. m. Planes to the same city leave at 12:45 p. m. and arrive at 5:39 p. m.

Trips home by boat are not likely to prove popular inasmuch as Washington has direct connections for only one city, Norfolk, and considerably more time is consumed by boat than any other medium of transportation. The vessels for Norfolk leave nightly at 6:50 and arrive at 8:30 a. m.

Students Discuss Capitalistic Ethics

"Ethics of Capitalism," as related to current affairs formed the subject of discussion at the Students' Round Table meeting December 13.

The recent A. & P. strike, actions of the Tennessee Valley Authority, unemployment insurance measures, and Town Hall Forum topics were discussed during the meeting. Charles Keifer conducted the meeting as student chairman. The round table will discuss "Socialism and Individualism" at its meeting Thursday, in Corcoran 21.

Santa Claus Interviewed

Good Business May Be Bad Business; Kind-Hearted Saint Names Gifts We Can't Forget,—A Fearless Doctor, and Sam Cowley

By GEORGE T. JARVIS

Arctic Circle, Dec. 16, 1934.

To the Editor of The Hatchet:

HAVE interviewed Saint Nick, as per your instructions. He is worried, in fact he has lost over 30 pounds, and the reason would probably make our American captains of industry laugh.

He worries because his business has become Big Business.

"Just look at that tape!" the once jolly old Saint pointed to what appeared to be a sea of ice. It was really cash register tape, ticker tape, and adding machine tape, billowing and heaving clear to the Christmas Tree Mountains on the horizon.

"Where's the old-time fun of Christmas, when you have to plough your reindeers through that? And then there's the danger of it. If someone drops a match, a little fire called a lock-out or a strike or even a war flares up."

"One of these times my Fire Department may be unable to keep the flames under control;—and then your whole world will be cooked."

"You Americans are to blame for a lot of this commercialization of Christmas," the much-advised Saint-of-the-Redshirt continued. "You are so concerned with things."

"You make me carry around billions and billions of things, all to celebrate the birth of Him who cared nothing at all for things!"

He was now really warmed up, and proceeded to show that of Jesus' many gifts to men, not one bore a price tag.

Then Santa Claus invited me to visit his Research Division. From a file marked "Genuine Gifts—December, 1934," he selected a clipping.

"This is about Dr. Charles Armstrong, down in your city of Washington. For 18 years now he has risked his life investigating for the Public Health Service such diseases as influenza, syphilis, botulism, parrot fever, and most recently sleeping sickness."

"Once he nearly died with 'break-bone fever,' and another time with parrot fever. Now he is down in bed again, as a result of his work with sleeping sickness in St. Louis."

"The tragedy of it is that his unknown ailment makes him lose his mind at intervals. And no remedy has been found to restore this benefactor to mankind."

Another story in this "Genuine" file, has real meaning for G. W. students who knew Sam Cowley.

Not until he was mowed down by "Baby Face" Nelson was it known that Cowley was directing the Federal Government's war on the Dillingham gang. He was unconcerned when others got the credit as one gangster after another was crushed.

Doggedly, silently, night and day, he drove himself and his fellow agents on. Their duty was to rid society of these spectacular criminals. And they weren't to talk.

Sam's wife and two baby boys moved to Chicago, from Washington last month in order to be near him. But they scarcely got to see him during the two weeks following, and then came the end.

At the Mormon Chapel on 16th Street, Sam used to teach a Sunday School class. One difference that he emphasized in the life of Christ, as distinguished from other great Teachers, was that He practiced the high principles that He taught, even to the extent of giving up His life.

Samuel Cowley has now been called to give up his own life at the height of its usefulness. But even greater sacrifices is required of the heroic wife and little ones this Christmas.

As in so many of these cases, the hero dies, but the heroine must live on.

MORE than a third of the freshman class this year at Yale will be permitted to skip some of the regular first year work under a system adopted at that university whereby the unusually bright student is advanced more rapidly than his duller classmates.

A student representing the junior class and one representing the freshman class are married at an annual ceremony symbolizing the union of the two classes at Mississippi State College.

In a special attempt to curb drinking approximately 250 ushers were made special deputies with official permission of the two schools to remove anyone found drinking in the stadium at the University of Iowa and Purdue University football game this fall.

The student publications of Washington and Lee are reported to have earned $2,000 during the past year.

Students insure themselves against being called on in class for a 25 cent fee at St. Thomas College, Minnesota.

Benson Will Play For Annual Interfraternity Pledge Prom At Kennedy-Warren Jan. 12

Jack Benson's eleven-piece orchestra has been selected to play for the annual interfraternity pledge prom which will be held in the modern ballroom of the Kennedy-Warren, Saturday, January 12, from ten to one.

Maurice Draper, president of the pledge council and delegate from Sigma Phi Epsilon, will lead the grand march at midnight.

A well-known local singer will accompany the orchestra, which was the winner of the fiesta orchestral contest last Spring.

The Student Council has promised a closed date for the prom, according to President Draper.

Pledges, actives, and friends of the fraternities are invited to attend the prom by the pledge council. Admission to the prom will be $1.65 a couple and $1.10 stag.

Bob Snider is social chairman of the prom. Others on the committee are Garth Edwards, chairman of the grand march and pennants; Machin Gardner, assistant chairman of tickets and publicity; George Dickey, chairman of posters and tickets; Baxter Davis, publicity; Paul Brogren, general coordinator, and Maurice Draper, orchestration of fraternity songs.

Tickets for the prom will be distributed to the various fraternities at the next meeting of the pledge council which will be held Wednesday, January 2, at 8 p. m., at the Kappa Sigma house.

Prom Ladies' Gowns Steal Show, Despite Men's Style Exhibit

By Alice Klopstad

To the strains of Frank Stevenson and his ten-piece band, the Junior Prom lived up to all expectations at the grand ballroom of the Willard Hotel last Friday night.

Dancing began at 10, and throughout the evening entertainment features and sociality numbers were presented by the orchestra. A color-of-hair popularity contest was sponsored for the benefit of the Food Drive, the contest ending in favor of the browns.

Men's Fashions Modeled

A male fashion show was featured by Raleigh Haberdashery. Professional models took part, showing the latest fashions in men's sports and dress clothes.

The fashion display of the ball seemed to be harmony with the holiday season, red and green being the predominating colors. Black and white also were prominent. Kitty Bright looked lovely in a red silk gown with epaulet shoulders. Ruth Critchfield also wore red with rows of brown, orange and beige velvet outlining the neck and extending down the back.

Black Is Popular

Jane Norford wore a bright green silk dress with crushed velvet and chiffon flowers at the shoulder. "Ginger" Rogers was charming in a cream-colored gown relieved by a rose collar. She wore gloves of the same material as her dress and a corsage of roses to match the collar. Kitty Black's gown of peach taffeta featured by huge double bows on each shoulder was lovely.

Louise Kramer wore a colorful dress of light blue metallic, trimmed with a dargel blue. Eleanor Townsend looked lovely in light blue satin.

Larry Worrall, Virginia Seaman, Kathleen Bulow, Bertha Lockhart, Helen Leane, and Ann Garlock wore black. Larry Worrall's dress featured pin point gold dots and a wide red velvet sash. Virginia Seaman's robe de style taffeta was set off by silver straps of twisted leaves. In black crepe, relieved by gold metallic cloth, Kathleen Bulow looked very chic. Helen Leane's dress of velvet was relieved by silver lame crossed in front, Grecian style, and had a halter neck with two pearl buttons. Bertha Lockhart's dress was also of velvet and she wore a hat to match. Ann Garlock's halter-necked dress was made on simple lines.

Martha Talley wore a brown dress with a gold buckle and gold necklace. LaVerne Roberts' gown was of pink satin with a rhinestone buckle. Hazel Haynes wore a fuchia velvet, robe de style. Frances Wright's dress was of a colorful green crepe, princess lines, with gold yoke and collar.

Steel Gauntlet Marches
Eleanor Boehs looked lovely in a tiara and a white satin gown with rhinestone straps and belt. Bar-tiara and a white satin gown with velvet with a halter neck and rhinestone straps.

Louise Kramer and Russell Payne, social chairman of the Prom, and the seven new members of Steel Gauntlet, junior honorary society, led the grand march.

Awards were made during the evening by James Edwards, chairman of the Co-op Committee, to those selling the most Co-op books. First prize of $10 went to Machin Gardner; Hood Hoover and Jim Kinsella won second and third prizes.

Women's Team To Elect Mgrs.

Freshmen and junior managers for women's interclass basketball will be appointed this week, according to Ruth Critchfield, manager. Margaret Graves and Janet Stultz have already been appointed sophomore and senior managers, respectively.

Member of last year's varsity and those outstanding on class teams who are back this year are Reba Barton, Ruth Critchfield, Gretchen Feiler, Jennie Garner, Peggy Graves, Lella Holley, Camille Jacobs, Virginia Pope, and Frances Thompson.

Practices are being held in the University gymnasium Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at 1:45 p. m. and 2:30 p. m.

Junior and seniors, especially, are urged to get in their practices as soon as possible.

Dance Club Will Pledge Ten Girls This Evening

Ten girls will be pledged by the dance club, at the home of Mrs. Foster, director of the club, at 9 o'clock tonight. The girls to be pledged are Mary Fulham, Mary Goldberger, Betty Hartung, Jane Harrison, Lois Kingsbury, Louise Kramer, Bertha Lockhart, Frances MacMillan, Tan-yana Jansy, and Annette Rich.

S.A.E. To Be Host To National Convention Here December 27

Washington City Rho chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon will be host to delegates of the National Convention of the fraternity here December 27, 28 and 29. Harry Ames, retiring president of the George Washington chapter, will act as host delegate. The Willard Hotel will be the convention headquarters.

Attending the convention will be delegates representing each of the 108 chapters of the S. A. E. Several chapters within the adjoining provinces plan to attend the convention en masse. In addition there will be alumni members, sisters, sweethearts and others indirectly affiliated with the fraternity.

Such notables as Daniel C. Roper, Merle Thorpe, editor of "Nation's Business," and Senators Harrison, Russell, Bankhead, and Pittman will attend the convention. Rudy Vallee, famous orchestra leader, and Bobbie Jones, ex-golf champion, are also expected to attend.

Delegates will be taken on tours to Mt. Vernon and other points of interest to visitors to the Nation's Capital. A special wreath will be placed on the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Outstanding among the social affairs planned for the delegates are a mammoth banquet to be held at the Willard, a luncheon in honor of Secretary Roper and a party at the home of Merle Thorpe.

The final and greatest social event of the convention will be the Diplomatic Ball at the Willard Saturday, December 29. During the intermission of the ball a promenade will be formed. Souvenir favors will be distributed to the ladies.

Honorary Engineering
Frat Will Initiate 5 Men
Five men will be initiated by Sigma Tau, honorary engineering fraternity, January 5. They are Henry A. Lepper, John H. Meads, Elsburg B. Lee, C. A. Motz, and Edward J. Thomas.

William Roesser, national chairman of the fraternity, will address the chapter following the initiation ceremonies which will take place at the Lafayette Hotel.

Panhellenic Association to Discuss Dance Plans
Plans for the annual script dance will be discussed at the meeting of the Panhellenic Association Thursday at 12 o'clock in Corcoran Hall.

The dance is to be given after the Christmas holidays and the proceeds will be applied toward the Panhellenic Prom.

Sigs Initiate Four
Sigma Chi announces the formal initiation on Sunday of Arthur Ben Candland, Floyd Donald Parrish, Richard Colburn Lough, and Ernest Taylor Coleman.

Justin Miller Speaks At O. D. K. Banquet
Fifty-one members of O. D. K. from various circles of the Eastern Province assembled at the Willard Hotel Saturday to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the fraternity.

Justin Miller, special assistant to the Attorney General and dean of Duke University Law School was the principal speaker at the featured banquet. Attorney General Cummings and District Commissioner Hazen were among the other distinguished members present.

Nine of the 11 G. W. men recently bid to the organization were initiated preceding the banquet.

Memonides Club Elects
Paul Bauman President
Paul Bauman was elected president of the recently formed Memonides Club, Jewish social society, Thursday evening. The other officers elected were: Nileen Cooper, vice president; Helen Rosenthal, recording secretary; Estelle Dick, corresponding secretary; Irving Weintraub, treasurer; Sam Dick, historian, and Norman Finklestein, sergeant-at-arms.

Law Librarian An Interesting Campus Woman
Miss Helen Newman Doesn't Stop at Legal Aid for Students

By Mary E. Kenna
Every law student knows her and has enjoyed her helpful advice. You surely have seen her on campus. She's Miss Helen Newman, secretary and librarian of the Law School. Her official duties come under the head of administrative assistant to Dean Van Vleck.

In this capacity, her pleasant disposition and ability to make things smooth again have aided many a student in many and various ways, "not always of a legal nature"—to quote Miss Newman.

Miss Newman is a thoroughly local product, having attended Washington grammar schools and Western High School, where she was captain of the basketball team for three years and from which she was graduated as valedictorian. In 1925 she received her LL.B. with distinction from George Washington, and in 1927 her LL.M. As a result she was assistant law librarian, and upon her graduation in 1928 she became secretary to the law school, and two years later was appointed law librarian.

As librarian she has done a marvelous job of building the collection up from a scattered and limited number of volumes in certain fields to a library well grounded for research work. It is used rather extensively by new-deal government attorneys. This in itself is an indication of the library's excellence.

Last June Helen Newman was elected secretary-treasurer of the American Association of Law Librarians at their annual convention in Montreal. In connection with this office she holds the position of editor of "The Law Librarian Journal," which is published in conjunction with "The Index to Legal Periodicals." A short biographical sketch of Miss Newman is included in "Who's Who in Library Science," published last year.

Besides being a member of the American Association of Law Librarians, Miss Newman is a member of the Women's Bar Association, which she addressed last year. She holds the office of secretary in the Order of the Coif, honorary law fraternity. She is a member of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity, and an honorary member of Sigma Delta Phi, speech arts fraternity. Her social sorority is Chi Omega, and she also is a member of Kappa Beta Pi, legal sorority.

Miss Newman, when questioned about her hobby said, "Ice skating, when there is ice to skate upon in Washington, and always public speaking."

THERE is one man who might have a great deal to do with Dick Hanley's taking a job as football coach here, if that should ever occur.

That man is John L. Griffith, commissioner of the Big Ten. Both President Marvin and Jim Pilee have the greatest respect and admiration for the "Landis" of the Western Conference. It was whispered abroad that Griffith had no little to do with Marvin's selection of Pilee as the Moses destined to lead G. W. out of the wilderness in 1929.

In the spring of 1932, Griffith came here as the honored guest and principal speaker at the athletic banquet, showing definitely that someone here was very close to the Mid-west mogul.

It is not unlikely that the "Major" would be asked should Marvin and Pilee decide to bring in a new man to direct the grid destiny of G. W.

And Hanley, one of the Big Ten pets, is out of a job, so why not he?

DESPITE defeats of the "organization" party in Maryland and rumors of "Curly" Byrd's downfall, the genial dictator of things out at College Park, still holds the Southern Conference in the palm of his hand.

Saturday one of the South Carolina representatives in the Conference went to its meeting in Richmond with the avowed purpose of getting the District of Columbia voted out of Southern Conference territory.

In other words, it wanted to get the D. C. colleges off the "black list" so that it could make its own agreements with schools like G. W. instead of playing under conference rules. G. W. refuses to contract games under these terms and some of the colleges not under Byrd's wing, definitely in a minority, are itching to play here.

Apparently the motion never got to first base. The reason given for keeping Washington within the restricted area is the possibility of Georgetown entering the conference.

That's a new one on me, and I suspect that's a new one on Georgetown, too.

Let There Be No "Tiny Tims" in Washington This Christmas.

Geneva Quint Here Tonight, Wittenburg Team Plays Thursday

By Sid Carroll

Having completed the first week's encounters with two "set-ups," Shenandoah and Randolph Macon, the George Washington basketball team gets down to serious business this week. The Colonials meet Geneva, Wittenburg and Indiana in four days.

Geneva, G. W.'s first major opponent, invades the "tin tabernacle" tonight. The Covenanters, as they are commonly known, is composed of a number of six-footers. The entire squad is composed of men who have had at least one year's experience.

The Pennsylvania school takes on such outstanding teams as Duquesne, City College, Rider, Long Island and Westminster. These five teams are considered the big obstacles in their schedule. G. W., however, is not among the teams that they consider will offer tough opposition.

Next in line is the Wittenburg five, from Springfield, Ohio. Coach Bill Stobbs usually puts out a formidable quint. In 1933 they were at the top of the heap, in the Buckeye Conference. Last year they did not fair so well and ended in fourth place.

Princeton and Ohio State, however, were defeated last year by the "fighting Lutherans," as they are commonly known.

The climax of the week will be the game with the University of Indiana quint Friday night. One of the best, if not the best, teams to play G. W. this season is what they are labeling the Hoosiers.

Coach Everett Dean seems to have a formula for producing prominent fives in the Big Ten conference. Although they have not taken the title since 1928, the Hoosiers are always near the top.

An interesting battle should develop between Hal Kiesel, G. W. center, and Fechtman, Indiana's six-foot nine center. Other stars with the invading five are Kehrt and Stout, forwards, and Gunning, stellar guard.

Dean has developed a fast breaking offense and short shots are featured. When a man is in the open near the basket, he will pass the ball back to the guard instead of shooting. This is often the case, especially, if they are leading.

This game concludes the schedule previous to the holidays. Baltimore University is the first opponent after the holidays. They come here the sixth of January.

Indiana to Be Played in Roosevelt Gym Friday

Max Farrington, assistant athletic director, announced last night that the game with Indiana Friday night would be played in the Roosevelt High gym. Also that the C. C. N. Y. Drake, and Temple games would be played in the Tech gym.

Admission to the games is 45 cents. Students will be admitted to all home games, whether played in the G. W. gym or elsewhere, with their student activity books.

Wake Forest has been added to the varsity schedule and will be met here February 6 in the "tin tabernacle."

Cub Five, Beaten By Tech, Opposes Westerners Today

The freshman basketball team made its debut Saturday night opposing Artie Boyd's Tech High five. The game, played as a preliminary to the Varsity-Randolph Macon tilt, was a mauling, bruising affair, and ended with the Techites ahead 29-26.

The frosh meet Western High this afternoon at 3:30 in the Western gym and have a game with Washington and Lee High, Ballston, Virginia, tentatively scheduled for tomorrow.

Handicapped by only a week's practice, and playing their first game together, the yearling quint made a creditable showing and gave indications of potential strength. Tech did not look particularly impressive in winning and in a return engagement it is probable that they would come out on the short end.

Offensively, "Slim" Liddycott was the frosh's greatest threat, while defensively Ross Marshall stood out.

Tommy O'Brien and Tim Stapleton played well but were obviously not in mid-season form. These two boys, who's athletic careers crossed many times in high school, give promise of producing a combine similar to the Goldfaden-Bakum merger.

The yearling squad was hampered by ineligibilities and will undoubtedly gain strength when these men remove their restrictions.

C. C. N. Y. Seeks 44th Win City College of New York, which the Colonial five faces January 9 at the Roosevelt gym, has won 43 straight games. They have a string of 52 straight victories on their home court. This week at Dartmouth, the Lavender meets its first major foe of the year but should have little difficulty.

Footballer Gives Hope as Natator

Ghormley and Carter Give Fine Performances in Preseason Final Swim

With a promising performance by Henry Vanderbruegge, the Colonial tankmen concluded a short preseason series with the Men's "Y" Friday night at the Shoreham pool.

The erstwhile footballer, with only a week of practice, finished behind Randle of the "Y" and his own teammate, Vartia, in the 50-yard dash, and at the end was coming up fast.

The sprints are the team's weakest spots, and he may be able to remove one of Coach Hax Rote's biggest worries. Except for the relay, every event was closely contested, and the meet was really much closer than the 47-21 score would indicate.

Captain Dyer Ghormley made the only G. W. first place, nosing out Clay of the "Y" in the 220-yard breast stroke. Beverly Carter gave another excellent exhibition in the 220 and 440 free style, losing by less than a yard in each event.

Plans for trips to Virginia and Lafayette are practically completed, but as yet the schedule is incomplete.

400-yard relay—Won by Y. M. C. A. (Randle, H. Dorman, Rait and Mullady). Time, 5:14.
220-yard free style—Won by Boggs (Y). Time, 2:38.
50-yard dash—Won by Marshall (Y). Time, 1:17.
60-yard free style—Won by Randle (Y). Time, 2:38.
Fancy diving—Won by Marshall (Y). Time, 1:17.
150-yard back stroke—Won by Marmion (Y). Time, 2:47.
220-yard breast stroke—Won by Ghormley (Y). Time, 2:47.
440-yard free style—Won by Boggs (Y). Time, 5:46.
220-yard breast stroke—Won by Ghormley (Y). Time, 2:47.
100-yard free style—Won by Hullady (Y). Time, 1:03.
50-yard dash—Won by Marshall (Y). Time, 1:17.

Hatchet Selects Mythical Interfrat Basketball Team

By Baxter Davis

Again comes the time to pick a mythical team. With the All-American football selections still discussed both pro and con by almost every University student, The Hatchet at this time selects an All-Interfraternity quint awarding the players who have been the most outstanding during the recent series.

Why is an honor team picked? This is an old question which is asked over and over. In the eyes of many, an honor team causes only hard feelings and jealousy among the participants and brings on arguments between the followers. On the other hand a mythical team is always looked forward to by the followers of every sport.

For the left forward position, Paul Swofford of Sigma Nu is chosen. His general all-around performances places him as the outstanding player of the series. In addition to his flashy court play, he led all individual scorers with a total of 59 points for five games. The other forward position goes to Tom O'Brien of Sigma Chi. Although not a brilliant player, he proves to be a great asset to the Sig team by his stellar passing and accurate shooting.

Deverne Liddycott of Sigma Phi Epsilon receives the call for the center job, getting the edge over Hal Kiesel, of Phi Sigma Kappa, who was declared ineligible due to varsity status. Liddycott's fighting spirit in both offensive and defensive departments of play land the pivot position.

Colonials Easily Defeat Two Foes

Shenandoah and Randolph-Macon Are Routed By Logan's Proteges

With less trouble than pronouncing Jaciocki, Powdkerisik, the Colonial quintet turned up its shooting eyes against Shenandoah last Tuesday and Randolph-Macon, Saturday, 53-27, and 49-14, respectively, in the season's openers.

Against Shenandoah, the G. W. team looked ragged, but not enough competition was offered by the Pennsylvanians to trouble the varsity. Captain Jimmy Howell inaugurated the season by netting seven field goals for 14 points. Ben Goldfaden, Reds Ruley and Hal Kiesel, basketed six points each.

Randolph-Macon provided slight opposition in losing. After the first team had rolled up a 23-5 margin shortly before the end of the first half, Acting Coach Logan sent in an entirely new team which was in turn replaced by the remainder of the squad.

FROM R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY

MAKERS OF CAMEL CIGARETTES AND PRINCE ALBERT SMOKING TOBACCO

A pound of Prince Albert in glass humidor, gaily packaged.

● Cigarettes for Christmas! No smoker ever has too many. But which cigarette? Remember that the brand you give reflects your own good taste...your sense of discrimination. That's why we suggest Camels. They are made from finer, more expensive tobaccos than any other popular brand. They are the choice of distinguished men and women in every field of the social and business worlds. And their finer tobaccos bring that welcome "lift" in energy—that warm good cheer—which is, after all—Christmas!

The special Christmas package with 4 boxes of Camel "fat fifties"—just the inexpensive gift you have been wanting.

CAMELS MADE FROM FINER, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS

Ten packs of Camels—"twenties"—in their beautiful Christmas wrapper make a welcome gift for discriminating smokers.

The 1-pound tin of mild, mellow "P.A." special, wrapped for Christmas.

● Is there a pipe smoker on your Christmas list? Then your problem is solved. He's made it easy. Give him long evenings of calm contentment. Give him the sheer joy of ripe, mellow tobacco—cool and mild and biteless. Give him Prince Albert... "The National Joy Smoke." What a man spends his own money for is what he really likes. And more men spend their money for Prince Albert than any other pipe tobacco.
